Mark Roberts is a former British Army Officer who spent over 20 years leading personnel in security focused roles in the Army worldwide, 12 of them in the Royal Military Police. He then spent 6 years as a contract officer in the UAE Armed Forces advising the Commander of the Amiri Guard on international best practice for protecting the Royal families and their properties in the country and beyond.

After a period in Africa, he returned to the UAE and spent 2 years as the Corporate Security Director for a regional GCC FM Company, based in Dubai which included many high-profile properties

He has spent the last 10 years as a consultant, delivering security advice and training in UK, UAE, KSA and Jordan. Examples include writing the successful bid for MAB FM to run the Louvre Abu Dhabi, Al Abdali Mall and Boulevard in Amman, Jordan and various other projects with CNI, HNWI and iconic properties throughout the UK and GCC. He conducts security design projects, security vulnerability assessments, penetration testing, security reviews and creates security and emergency plans for companies in the UK and overseas.

He has extensive experience in identifying security risks and opportunities and developing security solutions to complex problems. He is a strong believer in using emerging technologies to enhance security and maintain his own and his team's awareness of current and future security and criminal threats.
